FIGURE 5.4: After-school programmes – positive pathways for violence reduction.

- Development of children’s capabilities including education
- Exposure to positive aspirations and opportunities through art, sports and other extra-curricular activities
- Integration with the home environment through family outreach
- Development of non-cognitive skills such as emotional and communication capacities
- Opportunities to inform young people about consequences of risky behaviours such as drugs and crime
- Increased time with adult supervision keeping them safe and engaged

Source: Know Violence in Childhood 2017